rupted good health. His appearance was youthful, his hair dark and unblanched; and it might be said of him as it was of the ancient patriarch, that when he west down to the grave 'his eye was not dimmed, nor his natural strength abated" He had been in the occasional sethe grave "his eye was not dimmed, nor his macaristrength abated". He had been in the occasional habit, for years back, of going up or down town in the ears, and so agile was he that he would never permit the driver to stop to let him down or take him h. but would invariably jump on the platform as limbly as a boy. He was well known by those who invelled frequently in the cars, for the pocularities we have alluded to and for his good humored smiles and stories; and so averse was he to be treated as an old man, that if conductor stopped the cars to permit him to leave, he would not do so until they had resumed travelling, remarking humorously, on every such occasion, that they might stop to let down young people or old neople, but never for a man of his age. He had been a member of the Society af Friends all his life until lately, when some division took place between them. We understand that Mrs. Child, who lived in his family for nine years, is engaged in writing his blography.

To Professors of Christianity.—Having head that my language in calling the Fountain of Trath to witness the purity of my assertions, has given offence to some, I beg to state that I followed the dictates of a acity and most impressive feeling, that such an appeal could not be misconstructed by any confessing the magnitude of its obligation and responsibility. If a reregated to myself the power of curing Consumption or Disease, I should be unworthy of it, but as I attribute that power alone to Him who has permitted the discovery of a compound I have named "The Nervous Antidote." I shall not recant one word that I have said, but doubly and unceasingly implore Him to inspire all good men to investigate and make manifest the truth or falseshood of what I say, that it is positively the sambilitator of Disease and Consumption; that it immediately checks the further progress of any disease the instant its effects are felt upon the brain, and recovery is then certain if the system is not too far emaciated to refuse nourishment. The calculation is that about 25 percent feel the effect from one test speenful, 50 per cent from two, 76 from three, 50 from four and 10 per cent may require from four to twelve, or even 20 test spoonful; but in the language of Pr. Dods. "All can be brought into the participation of this inestimable blessing." TALBOT WATTS, M. D. Electro Magnetic Nervist, 42 Green wich street. N. Hair Dye.—Batchelor's celebrated Liquid Hair Dye is the best yet discovered for coloring the hair or whiskers the mement it is applied. Copy the address, Don't use worthless Concoctions, pretending to restore gray hair to its original colori based on the ing to restore gray hair to its original colori based on the ing to restore gray hair to its original colori based on the joking and off published receipt of that inveterate wag and gallant here, General Twiggs. How many gallons of rosewate, grains of sugar of isad and lac sulphat, have been wasted by the incipient chemists who have greedily awallowed the soi distant talismanic remedy, in the delusive hope of transforming their gray hairs into the color of their juvenile days heaven knows: Badinage apart, the result is utterly impossible—a violation of the laws of nature. If gray hairs are to be converted into black, brown, or adure, they must be dyed; and nothing is so perfect, so instantaneous, so innocuous and so stainless as Dr. FELIX GUURAUD'S celebrated Liquid, which is used and recommended by Hom Mr. Poindexter, Dr. Kuight Northail. Mrs.—with a suthoress, and a best of others. Dr. Gourand's Liquid Hair Dye, and his other world renowned preparations, are found only at his old established labaratory, No. 67 Walker street, first store from Broadway.

Hyatt's Life Balsama.—The principal Office for the sale of this great purifier of the blood, and certain cure for rheumatism, scrofuls, &c., and as sure to cure awater is to quench thirst, is removed to 246 Grand street, six doors east of the Bowery.

Horses, Horses, Horses.—Whose duty is it to attend to the real wants and comforts of this noble animal? Most certainly their grooms and owners. Dr. Kellinger has done one part: it now remains for all who own horses to do the next; the Dr. has been practically trying, for years, to complete his medical charm—the preparation will be ready for market in a week or ten days. It is designed to heal all sores gauls, and bruises immediately; it is almost as certain, as rapid, as the touch, in curing, Mr. John Delancy some two years since, drove up to the Dr.'s door at Yonkers, with his horse bleeding wherever the harness touched; Dr. K. gave him a portion of his wonderful Compound; he made the application and drove to Peckskill and back the next day, with every mark and place healed. This is what horses and horse owners have long wanted, and the what they shall have in a few days, to their agreeable astorishment, in large bettles at St each, clean and beautiful; it will scarcely soil white paper. Horsemen, look to the Dr.'s Depots, 230 Pearl street, and 476 Broadway, and your wants will all be supplied.
